ONDAMED: A Non-Invasive Approach to Enhance Body Functions

The human body works on the basis of bio-physics and bio-chemistry. Practitioners can apply the science of physics, using the non-invasive ONDAMED technology and the biofeedback loop to scan the body for underlying dysfunctions, such as inflammation, infections, scar tissue and emotional trauma residing at a cellular level. These areas often prove to be the source of disease and symptoms that might be otherwise difficult to find. Identified areas are treated with specific pulsed electro-magnetic fields to stimulate tissue and the nervous system.
